F. Lovejoy, Superintendent

Superintendent's Office,

622 Chestnut Street,

Philadelphia, 14 April 1879.

My dear Sir:

I have a dispatch from Mr. Henry Sanford wherein he says he should prefer to meet us in Washington on Thursday, and in response to a telephonic message just transmitted to your office, communicating the substance of the telegram referred to, I learned you had departed for the day.

I write Mr. Sanford tonight that we will leave here Wednesday noon and be in Washington Thursday, asking whether he can leave New York on Wednesday night so as to meet us Thursday morning.

Should your arrangements prevent your going on Wednesday as contemplated please advise me by noon tomorrow that I may communicate with Mr. S. If he telegraphs me that he cannot meet me until Friday I shall notify you before 12-00 m tomorrow.

Truly Yours,

F. Forejoy,
Supt.
